SNAPPED EDGE WALL STONE

A Wicki Stone Specialty Product

One specialty product Wicki Stone offers is Snapped Wall Stone. The stone is snapped by a stone guillotine which opens up the inside of the stone to show it's inner color and gives it a finished edge*. Below are snapped edge wall stones we routinely stock.

Select Blue Bluestone

We guillotine split Select Blue Bluestone stock into roughly square and rectangular pieces with an exposed edge. Heights vary. The face of the stone is clean so little to no smoothing is required. The stone is easy to install.

Karney®

We guillotine split Karney® stock into roughly square and rectangular pieces with an exposed edge. Heights vary. The face of the stone is clean so little to no smoothing is required. The stone is easy to install.

Full Range Bluestone

We select Full Range Color Bluestone and Karney® then guillotine split them into roughly square and rectangular pieces with an exposed edge. The earthtone colors are prominent in this stone. Heights vary. The stone is easy to install.

Reclaimed Brownstone SPLITFACE

We guillotine split reclaimed Brownstone stock into roughly square and rectangular pieces with an exposed edge. Heights vary. The face of the stone is clean so little to no smoothing is required. The stone is easy to install.

Indian Hill® SPLITFACE

Indian Hill® is a rounded or angled stone with beautiful interior colors. We snap the stone on our in-house guillotine to square off the edges and reveal the unique interior colors.

*Although stone comes with a snapped finished face, depending on the application - hand tooling may still be necessary.

Wicki Stone relies on numerous quarries to supply our uniquely large natural stone line. Stone color varies not only from quarry to quarry, but within a quarry, often dramatically in areas of a quarry right next to each other. We try our best to show our stone as it looks but stone color is difficult to capture with a camera. Therefore, we make the following statements about the photos in this catalog.

- The stone colors in this catalog may not be the exact color of the stone you buy.
- Wicki Stone does not guarantee stone color.
- Wicki Stone is not responsible for errors and omissions. No implied or expressed warranties.
